

Recognizing and Understanding Adjective Clauses Who/Which/That

Part A. Directions: Find and underline the six adjective clauses in the paragraph below. The first one is already done.

In modern times, international travel has become a common phenomenon. Millions of people travel internationally for a variety of reasons, which include leisure, business, and education. However, people who travel between countries need to be prepared. First, international travelers must carry documents that show their identity. In addition, many travelers need visas if they plan to stay for a long time in another country. These visas, which they receive from the host country's government, give permission for work or study. In addition, some travelers like to get international insurance that they can use for medical care in case of emergency. Finally, people who want to travel to a distant country need plane tickets to their destination. With proper preparation, international travel can be an easy and rewarding activity.

Part B. Directions: Change each of the underlined sentences from the paragraph above into two separate sentences. The first one is already done.

1. Millions of people travel internationally for a variety of reasons. The reasons include leisure, business, and education.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.