

Direct Object Pronouns

I. Exercise. Underline the direct object if there is one.

1. An unknown computer hacker posted instructions last week.
2. Gas prices rise because refineries are producing at a lower capacity.
3. A tiny video camera will be inserted between his ribs.
4. The registrar dismissed objections to the couple's wedding.
5. The United Nations adopted a declaration banning all forms of human cloning.
6. Bankruptcy filings have doubled over the past ten years.
7. The rise in bankruptcies reflect the financial strains in the cost of living.
8. The city of New Orleans installed cameras last October.
9. During Mardi Gras, the cameras monitored the parade routes.
10. The bullet proof cameras can monitor an eight-block area.

II. Change the sentences above with direct object nouns to pronouns. See the example:

The students have studied unsolved cases.

Subject Verb D.O. -change to- them

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____